Better Babies, Maybe Good Navy News When You Turn Over a Board

Business Comes First

In Germany the "new broom" is sweeping clean, with much new law making and sweeping away some things that will be missed, interest.

The most recent announcement tells of a "Spartan eugenics code" which is to produce better German babies. Fathers and mothers selected from the eugenic standpoint. Mothers are told to cease filling their brains with useless education and concentrate on producing fine German children. Modern Germany is to be inspired by the example of ancient Sparta.

When a cowboy was offered a tall soup he said, "That's going a long way back for soup."

Going back to Sparta and Draco is going a long way back for inspiration.

Delicate children, according to the Nazi idea, are "not worth bothering with." To produce husky young Germans is the great thing. That's going back to the red Indian who had a habit of killing any baby that was imperfect. Neither red Indians nor Spartans ever amounted to much in the world's history, however.

Secretary Swanson, of our Navy, determined that Uncle Sam's Navy shall be "second to none," promises to build airplanes "to the full complement." Airplanes and submarines will decide future wars. Floating ships are airplane targets, except fast cruisers, useful to destroy enemy floating commerce.

Secretary Swanson should inspect plans of the latest military aircraft built by the British, exhibited at the recent air pageant. The world's most powerful aircraft, able to land and navigate on rough water, it is the fastest ever built, except actual racing craft.

Our European friends, in their agitation over the President's message on money, remind you of boyhood days when you turned over a board, looking for fish worms, and all sorts of queer creatures darted and scampered around the sudden light.

Small nations, hanging to the gold standard by their eyelids, realize that they must let go. France, more powerful, because of her gold hoard, almost equal to ours, is described as "raging" and "in wondering amazement."

The solidly important news, for America, comes from England. Prime Minister MacDonald told Senator Couzens, American delegate:

"Cancellations are pouring into northern industrial England from all over the world. These cancellations are coming because of the cheap American dollar."

If those cancellations mean more orders for United States factories and farms and more work for United States workers, we shall regret Britain's loss, but not regret our abandonment of the gold standard.

The British are business men first of all, and Russia seems to turn in that direction. Russia has released two British engineers locked up for a sabotage after one of the English prisoners had confessed. The British Prime Minister and Soviet government representatives are having friendly talks, and the two countries will resume "business as usual."

Lord Beaverbrook, a Canadian, who owns the London Express and knows the British, says nothing will ever keep Britain from trading with Russia as long as Russia is able to buy.

"Why," says he, "we trade with cannibals."

A business expert says the words most often spelled incorrectly by business men's secretaries and others are the following:

"Procedure, loss, benefit, accommodate, adviser, occurrence, supersede, principal, affect."

Frequent mistakes are one "M" in accommodate; two "T"s in benefited; occurrence spelled with an "A"; supersede, spelled with a "C" in place of the second "S." Miss Hakes, the expert, says there are harder words, but they are looked up in the dictionary. In the average business office the words mentioned would be misspelled at least half the time. It might interest you to try it.

Senator Capper, who lives in Kansas when he isn't working in Washington and knows about farmers, predicts that a new better business era is coming with our old and sacred "The devil take the hindmost" policy discarded.

He sees the possibility of regulating and reorganizing industry on a basis that will protect and benefit the worker.

The proposition to reorganize the cotton industry, with child labor forbidden, is encouraging.

A national government able to reach out and take gold from boarders, should know how to take child workers from heartless industrialists.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIF., THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1933

Ivory Door at Forest Theater This Week

Several Christmases ago a slender volume of verses for children appeared in the book shops. It was called "When We Were Very Young" and was written by A. A. Milne for the delight of his own little boy, Christopher. Children all over the land read and loved it but discovered that it required a great deal of persuasion to get the book out of their parent's hands. Grown-ups also had become fond of the story of "The King's Breakfast" and "Mary Jane."

The same Englishman has written many plays and one of the most charming is "The Ivory Door," to be presented tonight and Saturday night at the Forest Theater under the direction of Dorothy Foulger. Those taking part include: Eugene Douglas, Marian Todd, Louise Cowen, Yvonne Castle, Hal Garrett, Irving Short, Reeve Conover, Joe Schoeniger, Ray Hamilton, Lloyd Weer, Frank Heffling, Ross Cowen, W. B. Williams, A. L. Van Roubette, Gene Watson, John David Tyrrell, James K. Mills, Bob Edgren, Tom Crosswaite and Harold Walker. Tickets are on sale at the three Carmel Drug stores.

REHEARSALS DRAWING INTERESTED LISTENERS

A special treat is in store for those who attend the rehearsal of the Monterey Peninsula orchestra Sunday evening at the Denny-Watrous gallery. The two soloists will be present and Winifred Howe will play the Bach concerto in D minor, and Miriam Solovoff will play her Vieuxtemps concerto.

Since familiarity with music lends to its enjoyment, many of the music lovers are making it a point to attend all rehearsals so that when the concert is given they will doubly appreciate what is played.

The orchestra is now practicing twice weekly, with open rehearsals Sunday evenings, for the low price of 10 cents to season ticket holders and 40 cents to others.

On Monday evening, the Peninsula Piano quartet will again be heard in open rehearsal, in preparation for their appearance on August 1st.

ELSA NAESS DISCUSSES DANCE AT GALLERY

Illustrating unity of body action and elasticity, Miss Elsa Naess with a group of her pupils, gave a most interesting demonstration at the Denny-Watrous gallery last Friday evening.

GIVES FINAL LECTURE NEXT SATURDAY NITE

At Henry Cowell's last lecture of a series, and given at Denny-Watrous gallery, next Saturday night, music of Bali, and Sumatra and a request rehearsing of the following will be given: Greek clarinet, African Pigmy music, Maori war cry and Irish folk song.

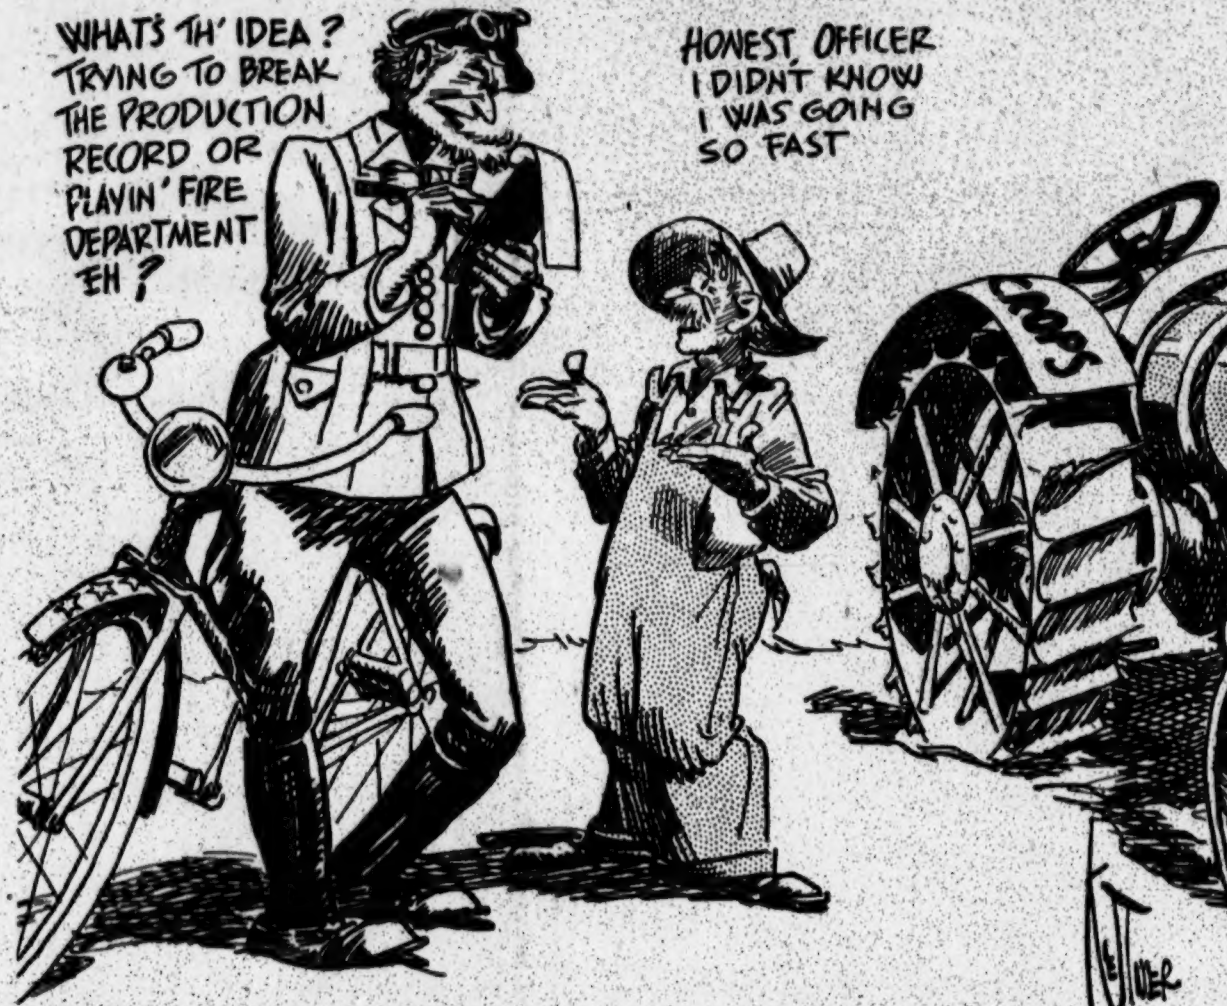

This evening promises to be particularly interesting and there will no doubt be a large number present.

NEXT SUNDAY AT COMMUNITY CHURCH

Morning worship will be conducted at the Carmel Community Church Sunday next by the Rev. T. Harold Grimshaw, resident minister. The service and sermon will both be of a devotional character. To all visitors in Carmel and to residents, a most cordial invitation is extended. Note: Immediately after the above service there will be held the usual League meeting with reports. Members of the Quarterly Conference are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wallace of St. Louis spent the week-end in Carmel, and left here for Los Angeles, where they will visit with friends before returning to their home.

The following is the personnel of the orchestra.

Michel Penha, Conductor.

Soloists: Winifred Howe, pianist.

Miriam Solovoff, child violinist.

Program features: Bach concerto in D minor for piano with string orchestra. Vieuxtemps concerto for violin and full orchestra.

Concert-master: Mildred Sahlstrom Wright, first violins: Robert Nagler, John Terry, Grace Knowles, Irene Cator, Laura Dierksen, Althea Harper.

Second violins: Edna Lockwood, David Hagemeyer, Charles Frank, Frances Mass, Ernest Calley, Sidney Robertson.

Cellos: William Dickinson, Doris Fee, Jean Crouch, Lois Gushe. Violas: Abraham Weiss, Nancy Bragg.

Flute: Henry Dickinson, Dr. F. V. Randol.

Clarinet: Arnold Chapman, Carl Loveland.

French horn: Arthur Hatley. Trumpet: Paul Taylor.

Trombone: Perry Lee. Piano: Ralph Linsley.

Harmonium: Anne Greene. Tympani: Roger Lee.

Drums: Dr. R. M. Hollingsworth.

Penha, a conductor of calibre of great conductors of our great symphonies. Only a Penha could bring our local orchestra up to the point of perfection where the sophisticated musicians and the mature concert-goer could enjoy a performance by it as thoroughly as a performance of real symphony orchestra.

The orchestra is the real community expression of the Peninsula.

FENCE KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Under the influence of a small quantity of 3.2, or something a bit more potent, an automobile became a tank, and an innocent Carmel fence became enemy troops to two soldiers from the Presidio who decided about eleven o'clock last Saturday night to show their girls how modern warfare is conducted.

At hurry calls from the vicinity of Thirteenth and San Carlos, Carmel's police department in the person of Chief of Police Gus Englund hastened to the scene of the excitement, and found the enemy flat on the ground, with the conquering troops holding wassail over its dead body.

Booked at the City Hall on charges of drunkenness and possession of liquor, the two heroes, much subdued, were handed over to Presidio authorities.

DONALD C. DOANE ASKS FOR APPEAL OF CASE

As a result of the collision between the cars of John J. Immich and Donald Doane last week, in which Mrs. Immich was badly injured, Doane was judged guilty of reckless driving on Monday morning by Judge Wood, and given a fine of twenty-five dollars, or one day in jail for each two dollars of the fine.

The cars collided on the corner of Carmelo and Eighth streets, damaging both badly. Mrs. Cooper a friend of Mrs. Immich, here on a visit from Pasadena, was badly shaken up in the crash.

Doane's attorney asked for an appeal to the court.

CORNISH PLAYERS THIS WEEK AT COMMUNITY

On Saturday and Sunday nights the noted Cornish players will make their first Carmel presentation with the new comedy, "The Heathers at Home." Edward Kuster brings the production here in lieu of his own production of "Beggars on Horseback" with the San Francisco Civic Repertory.

The Cornish Players, the touring group of the Cornish Little Theatre of Seattle, have achieved a national reputation by the artistry and finish of their productions. The Carmel engagement comes at the close of a long and successful tour of the Western States, and the Peninsula will have opportunity to see the new American comedy, "The Heathers at Home," at the peak of its run.

The play is classed with "The Goose Hangs High," "Another Language," "Street Scene" and "Dulcy" as one of those pictures of contemporary American life which are building up a true national theatre, just as the Moscow Art Theatre and the Abbey Players grounded the Russian and Irish theatres on plays portraying the life around them.

"The Heathers at Home," living up to the high reputation of the Cornish Little Theatre, is well mounted and competently cast. The long looked for "return of the road show" is at hand, and the smaller communities seem to be reaping the benefit on account of high theatre rents and labor union troubles in the larger centers. This is the first time that Carmel has been placed on the circuit of the Cornish organization and a fine turnout is expected to welcome them.

The play has been described as a blithe study of a phase of American middle-class domesticity, being a humorous and realistic picture of a typical American family rising in sudden revolt against its domineering head and sweeping all before it. The dialogue is crisp, rich and vivid, and the characters sharply etched. Kindly humor takes the sting out of the satire, and realistic character drawing gives the play a weight and authority often absent in the ordinary "domestic comedy."

Two performances only, Saturday and Sunday nights, with curtain at eight thirty. Regular Community theatre prices.

Pro Arte Quartet Presents Concert

Playing to a well-filled house, the second concert of the Pro Arte string quartet which was presented in Sunset auditorium Tuesday evening was received with lively enthusiasm.

The first and last numbers, quartets from Mozart and Ravel, were enjoyed by everyone, and were beautifully played. The intermediate quartet, a composition of Bela Bartok, a modern Hungarian composer, aroused much excited comment. The majority of those present expressed a strong disapproval of modern music, and condemned it as harsh and lacking in beauty, while those who are interested in the new music hailed it with joy.

One keen observer remarked that in her opinion the members of the quartet themselves seemed to enjoy playing the modern composition so much more than the others, and played with much zest.

It seemed as if they, like the composer, were making a distinct effort to shake their listeners out of the lethargy into which the old music had drawn them, and to wake them up with the violence and dissonance of the composition. The reaction to the weird, unusual strain was amusing.

Two encores followed the regular program, the first a selection from Schubert, and the second three short pieces by Stravinsky, repeated from the former concert.

HENRY COWELL TALKS ON FOLK MUSIC

Music that dated back as far as the seventh century was included in the program which Henry Cowell gave Saturday night at Denny-Watrous gallery. "Pretty Polly" of the Elizabethan age sung in that peculiar walling tone of the Kentucky mountaineers presents a sharp contrast of modern music. Irish pipes and Scottish pipes showed that the same tunes run in their folk songs but, as explained by Mr. Cowell, these songs are interesting in that they are not alike in little things.

On account of the peculiar cadences and slurs in the folk songs, it is impossible to write them exactly as they are sung by those to whom they have been handed down.

Mr. Cowell gave to his audience folk songs of Russia, Scotland, America, England and Ireland, explaining that all were a combination of culture and primitive music.

Only one more lecture will be given on Mr. Cowell's series, that on next Saturday night when he will talk on Oriental music and will illustrate his theme with several of the rare records from the Orient.

These lectures proved increasingly popular and a good many Carmel people are wise on "Musics of the World," than they were before they enjoyed these interesting evenings.

Interesting Carmel

Interesting Things About Carmel-by-the-Sea

Winifred Howe, Modernist

"After two years of work at Mills college, I decided to devote my life to music," said Winifred Howe, "And so I went to Paris, where I worked for three years. While there I met and worked with many of the young Americans who are composing modern music, and became most enthusiastic over it."

When I returned to America, I studied under Ernest Bloch in San Francisco, who is distinctly a romanticist, and under the powerful influence of his personality, I found myself swinging back to the old music. Now that I am away from him, I am getting a clearer picture of music, of all periods, and I feel that our modern young American composers are doing wonderful things in expressing American life as it is today musically."

This young artist, who is to play with the Monterey Peninsula orchestra as piano soloist has made a remarkable name for herself. In Paris she studied under Nadia Boulanger, Camille Decreux and Carlos Buhler. Before returning to America she studied with Tobias Matthay in London.

Miss Howe has just completed a year of teaching and playing in Los Angeles. While there she illustrated some of Roy Harris' lectures on modern music. She would like to return here in the fall and give a concert half of which would be old music, Bach and pre-Bach, and the rest modern American music, illustrating the similarity in method of using material, for according to Miss Howe, the modernists go back to the classics.

We hope that Carmel music lovers will have an opportunity to hear such a concert, for there has been so much discussion as to the merits of modern music.—M.M.M.

Miriam Solovoff

When one and a half years old, little Miriam Solovoff signified a love of music by demanding "Curci, Curci," when the phonograph was played, referring to records of Galli Curci, which among other fine records was in the Solovoff family library of music.

Miriam, child of a family of music lovers, brought up in an atmosphere of music, commenced her training on the piano when five years old. After a year and a half of this, she begged her parents for a violin, saying that she could not "vibrate" on the piano, and her remarkable progress soon delighted them.

Miriam's family have not pushed her before the public. They made every effort to keep her childhood natural. Miriam follows a definite routine, and practices three hours a day. She has a tutor, and now at the age of eleven is ready for high school work. She could have been presented three years ago, but the Solovoff's wished to have her thoroughly prepared. She has been studying under Miss Kathleen Parlow for the past three years.

After an audition before Dr. Rodzinski of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, Dr. Rodzinski wrote, "I want to repeat to you, what I already told you, that never, in my experience have I heard a child who offers such wonderful possibilities for the future. She has so much already—tone, technique, understanding, that I qualify her without hesitation as a matured artist now."

Miriam is to play as soloist with the Monterey Peninsula orchestra on July 25th.—M.M.M.

A Personage In Carmel Valley

Carmel Valley is full of interesting people and facts. A little digging brings a rich reward.

One of the most interesting people met with in a day's travel is Mrs. John Buelna. Pep, personality and vigor are exemplified in this tiny little woman. Her eyes fairly snap with the joy of life. Upon going into the little shop connected with the Buelna Service station on the Jamesburg road one is greeted with a hearty "Howdy Folks." On our visit there we were accompanied by our son. Mrs. Buelna told us of the visit of her grandson from San Francisco.

"He is a big boy" she explained.

"Almost as big as this young man." As our young man was only 17 years of age, we immediately questioned her about the age of her grandson.

"Oh he is almost 20," she told us.

"This boy is only 17," we exclaimed with all a mother's pride in her son's prowess no matter what it might be.

"Humph! Is that so?" she answered looking critically at the boy in question. "He is almost as big as I am."

As she is but as big as two cents worth of soap after a hard day's washing we jeered at her telling her she was so small we could hardly see her.

"Is that so? Well I wonder if you or your son either could go up to the top of that hillside and pitch down roots like I do. Yes sir, I'll be 64 my next birthday and I can go to the top of that hill and roll logs with a man. Can you do that?"

Reluctantly we acknowledged that was beyond our accomplishment. Imagine a woman 64 years old and does she sit back and feel sorry for herself? Far from it. She is proud of her health and ability. More power to her. We wish there were many more Mrs. Buelnas smiling and happy in this old world of ours.—MRS. C. F. K.

IMAGINARY INVALID

A BIG SUCCESS

Kit Cooke scored a hit with her play given by the Community Players last week-end and whether one liked the play, "The Imaginary Invalid," or not, it will have to be acknowledged that each one who took part was excellent in his role. Few of the "speeches" were short, the great majority being quite a dissertation, and they were delivered with no hesitancy, no groping about for the next word.

J. Roselyn Jones, looking the picture of health, was much concerned over his various medicines and treatments and was absolutely at the mercy of the doctors. And since the play was a travesty on the doctors of Moliere's time, the characters for those parts had to appear to be all puffed up.

Leon Wilson, the particularly stupid son of one of the doctors, Millard Pierson was excellent in his role and never once came out of character, though he had a most difficult part.

Miss Ruth Pinkham, as the maid was most charming and vivacious, carrying her role through to perfection.

Berline, the invalid's wife, portrayed by Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Angelique, his daughter, Nancy Thompson; Louison, a younger daughter, Norris Thompson; Berla, his brother, James G. Darling; Cleante, a young man in love with Angelique, Philip Remer; Diafoirus, a doctor, Millard Pierson; Monsieur Purgon, a doctor, Thomas Fulton Tucker; Monsieur Fleurant, an apothecary, James A. Darling; and Monsieur Bonnefoi, a notary, James H. Thoburn are each deserving of individual mention.

Ruth Austin as Pierrot and Irene C. Cator as pianiste added greatly to the enjoyment of the program.

Carmel folk and even the whole peninsula will be looking forward to the next play.

SCOUT TROOP OFF

FOR SUMMER CAMP

With Henry E. Bauernschmidt in charge, and Jack Frost assisting him, local scouts left yesterday for their summer camp, which is located in the mountains west of King City.

The boys will enjoy fishing swimming and horseback riding, and will do all of their own camp work, including the cooking. Those who went were William Welsh, Jack Pelton, Freer Gottfried, Harrison Foster, Robert Bello, Ralph Lee, Gordon Bain, William Chapman, Warren Johnston, Tommy Phillips and Homer Levinson.

F. Doherty returned this week from Long Beach, where he attended the state convention of the order of Eagles. Mr. Doherty was elected assistant state president.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

Governor Rolph has announced
the formation of a board of managers for Norwalk State Hospital.
They are Drs. George Hunter and Joseph M. King of Los Angeles, W.
F. Prisk of Long Beach, newspaper publisher; Mrs. O. P. Clark and Mrs. George Reynolds of Los Angeles.

J. B. Robinson has been named president of the Yucalpa Labor and Commodity Exchange, which proposes the trading of labor for fruit.
Through similar exchanges in other localities, fruit may be exchanged for products of those localities and in this way labor can be exchanged for the necessities.

Indications are wanting that infantile paralysis will be epidemic
this year, according to Dr. Giles S.
Porter, State Health Department
chief. In epidemic years, the increase is first detected in April and May, says the physician. The leading ailments throughout the State
are given as chickenpox, measles, mumps and whooping cough.

The Sonoma Water and Irrigation Company was granted authority
by the State Railroad Commission recently to sell that portion of its water system in the city of Sonoma to the city. The purchase price is $24,000. The company will retain parts of its system serving Boyes Springs, Agua Caliente and adjacent territory.

Names of four Californians were submitted by Governor Rolph to Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, for possible selection
as members of the board of review
to consider the "presumptive" cases of veterans. The names submitted are John U. Calkins, Jr., San Francisco; O. C. Attletweed, Oakland; Victor Palmer, San Francisco, and Otto E. Sandman, Stockton.

In the picturesque, natural bowl
of the new San Clemente State Beach park, surrounded by gayly dressed señoritas and dons, and hundreds of other guests, Friend W.
Richardson, former Governor of California, formally dedicated the park of 600 acres and 6000 feet of beach frontage, as a permanent playground for citizens of the State and tourists, as he planted the first tree.

Entrance fees of 10 cents to two state parks, Mount Diablo and California State Redwood Park,
will not go into effect as previously scheduled because of a large number of protests received by Governor Rolph. At the governor's request Dan H. Blood, state director of natural resources, has ordered the collection of fees held up until a hearing can be held on the matter by the governor.

The return of legal beer has been an economic boon to California
clam diggers. Dr. Giles S. Porter, State Director of Public Health, reported to Governor Rolph that because the shellfish is advertised in many lunch places where beer is featured, diggers have been working overtime. And so have the State inspectors assigned to see that they do not take claims from quarantined areas.

California's stork made 2.1 per cent fewer business calls in the first three months of this year than in the corresponding period a year ago,
according to Dr. Giles S. Porter, head of the State Department of Public Health. The number of births in the first three months was 112 per cent under the record total of the first quarter of 1930. Dr.
Porter said there were 18,590 births
in the first quarter of this year, 18,993 in the first quarter of last year and 21,056 in the first quarter of 1931. The new generation this year was made up of 9559 boys and 9031 girls.

A tragedy of nature was disclosed
recently by the discovery of two complete skeletons of deer in the water of Patterson Creek, near Etna, Cal., with the horns locked together. Orion Lewis, Sanford Crawford and Austin Alford of Green-view were target shooting in the vicinity when they discovered the skeletons. The horns are completely interlocked and cannot be pried apart. One horn is embedded in the eye socket of the other skull. The deer evidently were fighting on the hill and when the horns became locked, they rolled and fell into the stream, where they either drowned
or died of starvation.

During the last six months there have been applications for a total of $1,100,000 in loans by farmers of Yolo, Solano and Colusa counties.
William Gould, secretary-treasurer
of the Yolo County Farm Loan Association, so reports.

Claude E. Nyhart, supervisor of industrial education in Los Angeles city schools, was elected president of the California Industrial Education Association at the annual convention in San Jose.
George W. Mackenzie, Los Angeles,
was elected secretary-treasurer.

William G. Walker, chief of the velopment with one of the plots ready to harvest. The farm covered about four acres of rich river bottom land.

Conforming to the economic program decreed by the State Legislature, thirty-two employees of the Fish and Game Commission were dropped from the pay roll. Each bureau, except fish culture and game farms, was affected. Fifteen game wardens were dropped, seven employees of the bureau of game
refuges, including three lion hunters, lost their jobs and the bureau of hydraulics was abolished. An act of the Legislature impounded $300, 000 of fish and game funds and placed expenses on the fish and game division which it has not hit-erto borne, it was stated in explaining the economy move.

Wedding bells rang loudly in Reno recently for scores of California couples who swarmed across the State line to become Reno brides and bridegrooms. The rush attributed to the Fourth of July holidays, set a record for 1933 at the Washoe County Clerk's office and completely overshadowed a brisk divorce business at the same office. Lined up before the Reno license clerk, sometimes as many as twenty couples deep, the Californians
by slipping across the border evaded the law in this State, which requires three days' notice of intention to marry before a permit
may be issued.

A careful investigation of working conditions and wage rates paid to women employed in the picking, canning and dehydrating of fruits and vegetables in several Western States disclosed that California's wage standard is much higher than that of nearly all other States, according to a statement issued recently by Bernal H. Dyas, chairman of the California Industrial Welfare Committee. The 27½-cent-an-hour wage scale recently set for California, Washington and Oregon, Dyas
said, is the highest yet established.
Efforts to have other States adopt the same scale under a uniform
code of ethics to govern the industry under the terms of the National Industry Recovery Act are under way.

A real "golden" calf—despite all this talk against hoarding of the precious yellow metal—is to be provided for a Santa Barbara couple. That is what is in store for Mr. and Mrs. Alonso Crabb, pioneer residents who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary
at a barbecue attended by hundreds of friends in Noloqal Falls Park.
During the reception they were presented with a golden gift certificate for $500 by Superior Judge Atwell Westwick
of Santa Barbara, and the "golden" calf will be presented to them as soon as it is completed. It will be a tanned calf hide branded with the names of all of those joining in the unusual gift, and filled with 100 $5 gold pieces.

Wide variations in earnings and hours of work were shown in a United States women's bureau report of men's work clothing and women's house dress factories in Arkansas, California, Georgia and the city of New Orleans. Women workers only were included in the survey of the four localities, the beginning of a study of wider scope. In the field of men's work clothing, California's median earnings were the highest, $14.50; and California had the shortest work-week, 40 hours. California also had the highest median wage for women's cotton dresses, $10.45, the shortest daily hours, 8, and the shortest weekly hours, 44. The women's bureau attributed the markedly higher pay in this State to its minimum-wage law. In men's work clothing, Arkansas median wages were lowest, $6.55 a week. For individual establishments, the lowest median was $2.95 in Georgia, as against $20.10 highest median for individual establishments in California.

Directors of the California State Fair have started a statewide search to discover the largest farm animal and fowl in California. For the first time in the history of the fair, the farmer who has gone in for size in the raising of his livestock or poultry will have a chance to bring home a blue ribbon. Entries will be open to all comers, irrespective of breed, pedigree or other restrictions which govern entries in the present classifications.

What Makes a Safe Tire?

... I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk

your life on advertising statements

claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc.

Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat

and causing the rubber to soften

and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile

Indianapolis race for 16 consecutive years, the most grueling tire test.

The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber

—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowouts, and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of to-day and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone. Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the world

Weekly News Notes From Carmel Valley

The stork has been busy in the Valley recently. We have to announce the arrival of two brand new citizens. First, Mr. Russell Tracy Wolter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wolter, weight eight pounds and nine ounces born in Bay View hospital, Pacific Grove. Also Mr. Leroy John Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer, weight seven pounds, born Saturday in Salinas. Mr. Palmer, senior, is in charge of the gas station at the Carmel Valley tavern, of which 'Snap' Nelson is the new proprietor. The latter solemnly asserts that when he first saw the child, it popped itself up on its elbow and ordered him, in ungentle, not to say blasphemous terms, to quit the room. To verify this statement you are referred to its author.

Mrs. Daisy Green and her daughter, Mrs. Leo Vasquez, accompanied by the latter's children spent last week in Los Laureles at the cabin of Mrs. James Merrill. Mrs. Merrill and her son, Richard, are also spending the week-end there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates Thompson and daughter, Sheila, intend leaving on the 17th of the month for a two weeks' vacation in Oregon. Mr. Thompson is in charge of the training of horses on the Fertig ranch, and has not had a vacation since his arrival there seven years ago. His daughter expresses her belief that he will not get very far before he decides that something back on the ranch needs his attention and returns.

Charles Elare and family of Monterey are spending the summer at their home in Los Laureles.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckman, year-round residents at Los Laureles are away for a while. Mr. Beckman is engaged in enlarging the dance hall at Knotley's landing.

Miss Sally Brownell, daughter of Herbert Brownell, is visiting with her grandparents in Gilroy. She has been there for two weeks and is expected back shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Beck and family of Salinas are spending the summer at their home in Los Laureles.

A dinner for ten, followed by an evening of duplicate bridge was enjoyed at the Robles del Rio clubhouse by twenty people, including Mr. and Mrs. Russell Scott, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harris, Judge and Mrs. John Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prince, Mr. and Mrs. N. Halliday, Mr. and Mrs. N. Halliday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Raystone, Mrs. Esther Hitchcock, Mr. MacDonald, Bob Wilson, Mrs. Clara Miller, Herbert Brownell and Mrs. Salmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metz have taken one of the Koek cottages for an indefinite stay. Mr. Koek, the well-known artist, is moving his belongings into his own studio apartment.

Miss Francis Taylor is at her summer home in Robles del Rio. Miss Taylor has not been well and is recuperating.

A duplicate bridge match was played Sunday evening at the Robles del Rio clubhouse. Those participating were Mrs. Marie Van Atta, Mrs. W. H. Hargis, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Byrnes, Theodore Baldwin, Howard Cossens and Judge Thompson.

A wishing-well picnic was held at the Fry home, a group of forty people belonging to the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West at Salinas, all bringing their lunches and having a very jolly time. The provisions were so lavish that many had to remain for supper to help dispose of them. Several of the group had dinner at the Robles del Rio clubhouse. Numbered among the members were Bertha Briggs and Mrs. M.

Black, both among the high mounds of the order.

The wishing-well perhaps deserves further mention. It is situated in front of the Fry home in Robles del Rio and is endowed with supernatural powers. Any young lover pining for his love may go to the well and make a wish, which the fairies of the well will immediately grant. It should be mentioned that previous to wishing, it is necessary to insert a coin. The proceeds thus obtained go toward the support of a home for friendless children maintained by the Native Daughters of the Golden West in San Francisco. This home provides for children who through death or other misfortune have lost their parents.

An out-of-door moonlight dance pavilion is being constructed at the Carmel Valley Tavern. It is expected to be finished some time this week. This will be a place where inhabitants of the Valley as well as neighbors of Carmel, Monterey and Salinas may foregather for many a delightful dance.

K. D. Mathiot and his wife accompanied the boys and girls from the Rancho Carmelo on a pack trip to Pine Valley. They were gone six days and had an interesting trip.

The fields of which the upper portion of the valley largely consists are commencing to look as though some tidy housewife has been at work there. The loose piles of hay that formerly dotted them have disappeared, leaving instead a few large and widely scattered stacks of neat bales. This metamorphosis is accomplished by the hay press and interesting contrivance that bales the hay. It is powered by a couple of horses which travel in a circle. The crew of men are true models of hard workers. They arise at three in the morning for breakfast, and consume five more meals during the day, the last one at eight in the evening. The neat looking cook-wagon follows the press about as it moves, as does the large water truck. All the men work hard, no time is wasted, and thus about sixty or sixty-five tons of hay is baled in a day.

It would appear, from what we are told by Ariel Scarlett, who knows a great deal of such matters, that all about where the farms are at present there was once an Indian village. This had dug up an Indian wrist-bone not far from his home, and there is testimony in the form of broken and splintered oyster shells that even before its owner roamed the valley the sea was washing about there. These have been found as far up as Berta's ranch, which is probably seventeen miles inland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bergfield and their small son Herman, of San Francisco, were guests recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Cummings, at their home in the Carmel Valley.
